COURSE SCOPE: This course will help participants apply meaningful market analysis in valuation assignments. It presents the basic concepts and terminology of market analysis and marketability studies, then shows how marketability studies provide vital information for the highest and best use decision. Throughout the course, the emphasis is on conducting a reliable analysis of demand. Participants will gain practice in applying methods for inferred, or trend, analysis to three property types: a suburban residential subdivision, an existing multi-family property, and an office building. Using the tools introduced in the course will help participants increase the reliability of highest and best use analyses and support the conclusions reached in the three approaches to value.
